Summary of the Wealden Equality Scheme

Equality of opportunity is central to the Council's objectives and values.

What is the Wealden Equality Scheme?

The Wealden Equality Scheme sets out how we will ensure that all our services and employment opportunities are provided with equity and fairness to everyone.

All equality issues will be treated with a high degree of importance in addition to complying with relevant legislation.

Why is it needed?

It is unlawful to discriminate against anyone because of their age, disability, ethnicity, gender, religion, belief or sexual orientation when applying for a job and on any of these grounds, except age, when people are accessing our services, except in prescribed circumstances.

The Council has a duty to produce an equality scheme for disability, gender and race and these are found as individual chapters within the Scheme and should be read alongside the introductory chapters and Action Plans.

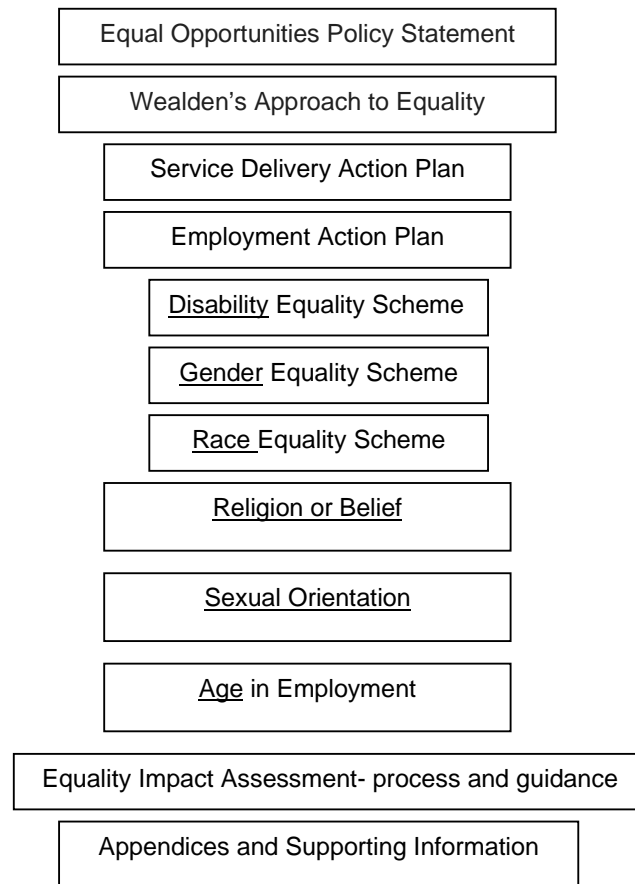

What are we going to do?

The Council is committed to:

- Promoting equality of opportunity and good race relations for all individuals and communities in Wealden.
- Collecting data and information on the impact of our policies and practices.
- Eliminating any unlawful discrimination or harassment in the provision of our services and employment.
- Improving the accessibility of our services and employment opportunities for all, and tackling the causes of social exclusion; and
- Ensuring effective implementation of equality duties across all service areas.

The service delivery and employment Action Plans focus on the principal aim of this Scheme and sets out how we will meet our objectives. The plans incorporate actions to meet all of our equality duties.

What is in the Wealden Equality Scheme?

Resources

Many of the actions within the Wealden Equality Scheme Action Plans will be met from existing resources and will be mainstreamed into the work of the Council. In addition, the Council has made a commitment in 2007/08 to designate a £20,000 corporate budget to pursue the equalities agenda and implement specific initiatives such as consultation and publication of results.

Equality Impact Assessment

We are required to carry out Equality Impact Assessments on our policies and services. The process is outlined in the Wealden Equality Scheme and covers all equality groups. The assessments will provide the tool to monitor our process and ensure that we are operating within the law.

Review of progress

On an annual basis we will publish a report containing a summary of the steps taken to fulfil our priority objectives, the results of the information gathered in this time period and what action we will take as a result. This will form part of an annual review on all equality work and will be reported to Members and published on the Council's website.

Definitions

The Wealden Equality Scheme sets out how we will ensure that all our services and employment opportunities are provided with equity and fairness to everyone, whatever their disability, gender identity, race, religion, belief, or sexual orientation and, with regard to our employment policies, age.

Definitions used within the Scheme:

Disability: A person has a disability if he or she has a physical or mental impairment that has a substantial and long-term adverse effect on his or her ability to carry out normal day-to-day activities.

Gender: The term 'gender' refers to the wider social roles and relationships which structure men's and women's lives. The term 'sex' is used to describe biological differences between women and men.

The Gender Equality Duty includes transsexual people, people who intend to undergo, are undergoing or have undergone gender reassignment.

Race: Covers race, nationality, ethnic or national origin and includes Gypsies and Irish Travellers.

Religion: The concept will include, but not be limited to, those religions widely recognised in this country, such as the Baha'i faith, Buddhism, Christianity, Hinduism, Islam, Jainism, Judaism, Rastafarianism, Sikhism, and Zoroastrianism. Denominations or sects within a religion can be considered as a religion or religious belief, such as Catholics or Protestants within Christianity.

Belief: The concept of belief includes beliefs such as Humanism, or other philosophical beliefs similar to a religion. However, other categories of beliefs, such as support for a political party, are not included.

Sexual orientation: Means an individual's sexual orientation towards:

- People of the same sex as him or her (gay or lesbian)
- People of the opposite sex (heterosexual)
- People of both sexes (bisexual).

It does not include transsexuality, which is related to gender and covered in the Gender Equality Duty.

An individual may identify with more than one of the definitions identified above. E.g. a woman may be from an ethnic group and have a physical disability. This is important to consider in our approach to equalities.

Equal Opportunities Policy Statement

Policy Statement

In line with our corporate values, set out in the Wealden Corporate Plan, Wealden District Council is committed to ensuring that all our services and employment opportunities are provided with equity and fairness to everyone.

The Council acknowledges that there are many forms of prejudice and discrimination and is committed to taking action to ensure equality for everyone, whatever their disability, family status, gender, race, religion, belief, marital status, or sexual orientation and, with regard to our employment policies, age.

Our objectives

The Council is committed to

- Promoting equality of opportunity and good race relations for all individuals and communities in Wealden.
- Collecting data and information on the impact of our policies and practices.
- Eliminating any unlawful discrimination or harassment in the provision of our services and employment.
- Improving the accessibility of our services and employment opportunities for all, and tackling the causes of social exclusion
- Ensuring effective implementation of equality duties across all service areas.

The Council treats all equality issues with the same degree of seriousness, in addition to complying with relevant legislation.

To ensure we meet our aims we will

- Monitor, assess and report our progress.
- Publicise our equality policy, action plans and achievements.
- Incorporate our equality policy into all of the work of the Council.
